Where you live determines how long you live.

If blacks and whites had the same mortality rate, nearly 100,000 fewer black people would die each year in the U.S.

High-income people show decreases in high blood pressure, smoking and heart disease, while low-income people stay the same.

Do you know ...

Blacks are 40% more likely to die from breast cancer.

The death rate for black Americans is higher than whites for heart disease, stroke, cancer, asthma, flu, pneumonia, diabetes and homicide.

Blacks are 2.5 times more likely to die during pregnancy.

The Health Gap has created more than 15 programs designed to improve health outcomes and create healthier communities.

Let's close the gap together.
